

CHURCHILL REVIEW CHEERED IN PARLIAMENT

Fighting Reported Mounting In South Russian Sectors

Invasion In Next Nine Months Hinted By Prime Minister

By ROBERT E. BUNNELL

London, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that the Allies had landed nearly a half-million men in Africa and planned an offensive campaign during the next nine months with the goal of engaging the enemy "on the largest possible scale and at the earliest possible moment."

In a war review vibrant with his usual fighting spirit and brightened by unusual optimism, the prime minister brought back from the Casablanca unconditional surrender conference the news of a new unification of command in North Africa and the pledge that Europe would be invaded as soon as the United Nations were ready.

These were highpoints of his address to the cheering house of commons:

1—As the British Eighth Army moves into Tunisia, the North African command is unified under the American commander, Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, with Gen. Sir Harold Alexander second in command, and with Mediterranean air forces under British Air Vice Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, and sea forces under Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham.

2—The Allies are more than holding their own in the U-boat warfare, with a million and a quarter more tons of shipping available now than six months ago, with losses of the past two months at the lowest figure in over a year, and with the best rate of U-boat sinkings so far in the war.

3—Churchill will meet again with President Roosevelt within the next nine months. The prime minister disclosed that the president had been willing to go as far as Khartoum, Egypt, to bring Premier Stalin into the January conferences, but that Stalin was too engaged with Russia's mighty winter drive to leave his country even for a day.

4—British Field Marshal Sir John Dill and American Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold have conferred at Chungking with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek who expressed satisfaction at the plans for giving China additional help.

5—Britain has offered to embody into a "special treaty" her pledge to help carry the war against Japan on to unconditional surrender, but had President Roosevelt's answer that "the word of Britain was quite enough for him."

Skirmishes Are Few On Guadalcanal

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—All organized Japanese resistance has been halted on Guadalcanal, and United States planes are attacking enemy bases in other parts of the South Pacific, the navy reported today.

Announcement that Japanese resistance had ended except for isolated patrol skirmishes, followed announcement by Major General Alexander M. Patch yesterday that his troops had gained complete control of Guadalcanal on Tuesday.

The navy communique, Number 277, which also told of new bombing raids of Japanese positions at Kiska.

(At his press conference Secretary of War Stimson said victory over the Japanese on Guadalcanal was hastened by an amphibian operation in which army forces moved by boat around the island under naval escort, landing near the northwest tip and marching overland to flank the enemy, who was caught on a narrow strip of beach about 15 miles long.

(Stimson said that Lieutenant General Millard F. Harnan, commander of the island, was working at his post.)

DEPOSIT RULING ON CONTAINERS FOR MILK

Harrisburg, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Buyers of milk in smaller Pennsylvania communities included in state-wide milk marketing area 11 will have to pay a 5-cent bottle deposit or a 25-cent case or can deposit beginning March 1 under an order of the State Milk Control Commission.

Area 11 comprises two-thirds of the state's area but includes only thinly settled regions in forty Pennsylvania counties.

The milk board said a deposit was ordered to insure the return of containers to avoid waste.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES ON RAILROAD TRACKS

Cranston, R. I., Feb. 11.—(AP)—An army plane crashed on the main line tracks of the New Haven railroad here today, and the pilot, unidentified, was killed.

The machine burst into flames as it struck a box car and skidded along the right of way, ripping up both in and out-bound tracks. The body of the single occupant was said by witnesses to have been burned beyond recognition.

EIGHTH ARMY STORMS INTO SO. TUNISIA

Rommel's Main Line of Retreat Reached By British Forces On March In Africa

DETAILS UNDISCLOSED

Cairo, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Eighth Army, on the move again after a short respite, has stormed 20 miles into southern Tunisia along the coastal highway which is Marshal Rommel's main line of retreat and has engaged the enemy near Ben Gardane, a British communique said today.

The announcement disclosed a swift advance of more than 30 miles from Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's last announced position at Pisisa, where the Eighth Army was reported in action late last week.

While the full extent of the action near Ben Gardane was not immediately disclosed, the bulletin spoke of sharp artillery duels and it was presumed Rommel's rear-guard was putting up a stiff fight against Montgomery's drive to join up with the First Army for the campaign to drive the Axis out of Tunisia.

Armored forces of the Eighth Army, meanwhile, were reported fanning out south of the coastal highway to engage Rommel on a broad front and impede his retreat toward the Mareth Line, 65 miles inside Tunisia, where he is expected to make his real stand.

Because of bad weather, the communique said, there was little activity over the battle area.

Allied fighter-bombers operating from Malta attacked railway targets in southern Sicily yesterday, however, and heavy bombers made daylight assaults on shipping in Palermo harbor, the bulletin said.

Allied headquarters in North Africa reported that Allied bombers and fighters have sunk one small Axis ship and left another (Turn to Page Eleven)

Pay Ceilings Endangered George Says

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Forecasting a major battle to preserve price and pay ceilings, Senator George (D-Ga.) asserted today that the government cannot afford to accede to the demand of John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers for a $2 daily increase in coal miners' wages.

George, whose views often are shared by a sizeable bloc of veteran senators, told reporters the approval of any increase which would break through the wage ceilings based on the "Little Steel" formula would mean collapse of all wage and price controls.

"This whole thing is shaping up into a major battle that the people can't afford to lose," the Georgia senator asserted.

He said he was "heated by the firm stand" taken by James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, in a radio address Tuesday night against any general increase in wage scales.

Lewis, he continued, "occupies a position of advantage from which he may be able to drive the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations into line with him" on demands for wage increases.

George said he could see little chance of an amicable settlement (Turn to Page Eleven)

Eisenhower Nominated To Be A Full General

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Lieutenant General Dwight D. Eisenhower to be a full general, coincident with Prime Minister Churchill's disclosure that Allied forces opposing the Axis in North Africa would be unified under Eisenhower's command.

The promotion expected to receive prompt approval by the senate, will make Eisenhower the fourth full general in the American forces, counting General John J. Pershing, commander of the first AEF in Europe, who has been accorded that rank for life.

Plans Being Worked Out To Shift Relief

Arrangement Will Not Include Boosting of Real Estate Levies

FLAT FEE FOR AUTOS

Harrisburg, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Governor Martin is considering a plan for counties to finance unemployment relief administration without boosting real estate levies but he declined today to outline the details.

He said the "only opposition" to making relief a county responsibility comes from sources that do not want new taxes placed upon real estate.

However, he revealed he plans use of revenues other than realty taxes to help counties assume relief financing but he withheld further comment.

Meanwhile he delegated nine government and legislative officials to study local relief administration in several eastern states and arranged for a conference on the matter in New York. They will report their findings to the legislature.

He also said at a press conference yesterday he will approve two bills providing a flat $10 fee for automobile registration and a reduction from $26.50 to $16.50 of half-ton commercial truck fees.

Both bills are in the senate after passing the house.

He estimated a $10 automobile fee would save motorists $2,000,000 annually and will reduce state administrative costs $100,000 each year.

A spirited house debate occurred on the $10 fee measure when Rep. James E. Lovett (D-Westmoreland) asked that the bill be given further study. He asserted it did not provide a fair reduction in the fees of some automobile owners.

The house also sent to the senate a bill prescribing penalties for crimes committed during blackouts or air raids.

ITALIAN EDITOR DIES

Pittsburgh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Vito Vincenzo Procopio, 69, honorary grand trustee and orator in the Order of The Sons of Italy, died last night at his home. Procopio, who retired in 1941 after seven years as editor of the Italian weekly newspaper, "Unione," here, founded the first Italian language newspaper in West Virginia.

Pensions For Ex-Officials

Harrisburg, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A $309 monthly pension for life will be paid former Governor Arthur H. James from the state retirement fund because of his 14 years of state service, the retirement board announced.

James qualified for payments under the "involuntary retirement" provision as he will not reach the optional retirement age of 60 until next July. Assistant Secretary Robert F. Mack said. He will receive his first pension check next month.

Others receiving pensions included:

Col. Lynn G. Adams, Harrisburg, former commissioner of motor police, $335 monthly; former Supreme Court Justice William I. Schaffer, Haverford, $492; Samuel L. Lewis, former lieutenant governor, $289; and E. Arthur Sweeney, Greensburg, former welfare secretary, $66.

Under the system, state employees contribute varying sums to the retirement fund and the state matches their payments

ALLIES PUSH FOE BACK IN NEW GUINEA

Sudden Display of Offensive Power Results In Killing of Over 125 Enemies

TOKYO CLAIM REFUTED

Allied Headquarters in Australia, Feb. 11.—(AP)—In a sudden display of offensive power, Allied troops in New Guinea have driven the main Japanese force in the Wau-Mubo area back six miles toward Salamaua, killing 125 of the enemy, it was announced officially today.

A communique from General MacArthur's headquarters said Allied artillery was heavily harassing the retreating Japanese, who are estimated to have lost approximately 500 men in fighting in that area in recent weeks.

Allied spokesmen emphasized that the action around Wau, which is about 35 miles southwest of the enemy base at Salamaua, is still on a small scale, but the tempo of operations obviously was increasing, with the Allies definitely taking the initiative after repulsing Japanese feeder thrusts.

General MacArthur's headquarters, meanwhile, branded as "a complete fabrication and propaganda" the sweeping victory which the Allies won last month in the Papuan campaign.

"It is a complete fabrication and must be regarded as propaganda rather than as a military report," the communique said.

"The necessity for such a subterfuge in the name of the emperor or himself represents a moral defeat even greater, perhaps, than the physical one he has suffered. There was no evacuation of Japanese from Buna at the end of January. At that time, the last scattered remnants of the enemy were so surrounded that evacuation no longer was possible."

"General Horii and his army perished."

Work of Dies Committee To Be Continued

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Authorized to continue its investigation of un-American activities for two more years, the Dies committee today turned to a list of more than a thousand federal employees to determine how many of them should be discharged for disloyalty.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said the original list contained some 1,100 names, but several hundred of them were reported to have resigned after their names were turned over to the FBI more than a year ago, "and undoubtedly there have been other resignations since then."

The names of any of those still working for the government and reasonably suspected of being un-American, Dies said, will be turned over to an appropriations subcommittee, which was created Tuesday to pass upon such cases.

The 302 to 94 roll-call vote by which the committee was continued represented the largest recorded protest against the committee since its creation.

Opposition centered around a contention that the committee has given too much attention to its fight against Communism and Soviet Russia and too little attention to Nazi and Fascist elements in this country.

RANKIN TEACHERS END THREE-DAY-OLD STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Fifty public school teachers in suburban Rankin ended their three-day-old sit-down strike today when the school board promised them a salary increase of $200 a year, provided the legislature approves.

The 1,500 pupils of the community's four schools, given a "holiday" from classroom work because the instructors refused to teach, were notified that classes would resume this afternoon.

Several moves are under way in the legislature to raise the teachers' pay.

President Plans Radio Speech Friday Evening

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt would make a 20 minute radio speech beginning at 9:30 p. m. eastern war time tomorrow night in which he will discuss many subjects concerned with the foreign and home fronts.

The chief executive also will speak on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, addressing the George Washington dinners under the auspices of the Democratic national committee. The hour of this address was not announced.

The Lincoln day speech tomorrow night will be broadcast on all radio networks.

It will be the president's first speech to the country since his return from the Casablanca conference.

Election Held By Employees Of United Co.

By Vote of 98 to 82 Workers Choose A. F. of L. As Representatives

SUPERVISED BY W. L. B.

As a result of an agreement reached between officials of the United Refining Company and representatives of the American Federation, a consent election, supervised by agents of the National Labor Relations Board, was held yesterday to determine what representatives the employees wanted to speak for them in collective bargaining negotiations.

The management of the refining company agreed to bargain with those representatives chosen by a majority of the employees in a fair and impartial election, held under the supervision of the labor board.

Yesterday this governmental machinery went into action, and the employees voted 98 to 82 to have the American Federation of Labor represent them. A total of 185 United Refining employees were eligible to vote; altogether 182 appeared to cast their secret ballot, showing the keen interest the employees had in the election. One ballot was judged invalid, and another was blank.

Supervising closely the election to secure impartiality and secrecy were Field Examiners Leo J. Kloos and Sidney Kohre, who came up from Pittsburgh, regional headquarters of the labor board, of which John F. LeBus is director in this area.

The election was set up like a well-conducted national election. There were two polling places, one at the main office of the refining company, the other at the Seneca plant. Polls were open, to give all three shifts their democratic privilege of voting, from 6 to 9 a. m. and from 12 noon to 5 p. m.

Each polling place had its own booths, supplied so generously by the company. Wooden ballot boxes with locks attached were also used. A printed ballot, furnished by the labor board, was given each eligible voter on which to mark his "X". Observers for both company and employees were on hand at each polling place to check eligible voters from lists prepared by the company.

MacLean Houston, director in charge of operations for the company, arranged the details of this election.

Serving as observers at the polls were Brackett Ayres and Herbert W. Wagner, for the company, and Allan Lord and Harold H. Amacher for the union.

FINLAND WILL HOLD ELECTION

BY WADE WERNER

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—What may be a turning point in the Finnish situation lies just ahead.

The sign post is the presidential election in Finland next Monday, when 300 electors assemble in Helsinki to choose a chief executive. The incumbent is President Risto Rytty, who was elected in 1940 to serve out the unexpired term of President Kyosti Kallio, who died soon after the Russo-Finnish winter war of 1939-40. In Finnish circles it is taken for granted that Rytty will be retained.

However, other candidates have been mentioned.

Officials here are watching developments, particularly with respect to any cabinet changes,

Deferment Of Family Men Is Opposed

Selective Service Director Is Witness Before Committee Hearing

ESTIMATES ARE CITED

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Major General Lewis B. Hershey today opposed legislation to require deferment of men with children until single men and children married men are drafted and said "the great majority of men" inducted in the next two or three months would be men with children.

Without giving any figures, the director of selective service said he had previously testified that a lowering of the draft age to 18, which was done, would not meet the demands of the armed forces for manpower, and added:

"In the next two or three months the great majority of men inducted will be men with children because there will be no one else left."

"I feel that it would be unwise to enact this legislation," said Hershey, first witness called in house military committee hearings on a bill to set up four categories for induction and to put the drafting of men on a state wide, instead of a local board, basis.

He emphasized that he was expressing only "my personal opinion," and was not speaking for the War Manpower Commission.

More than a million single men of draft age enough to fill more than a fourth of the requirements of the armed services for the rest of the year if they are physically fit, are now deferred on occupational grounds.

Selective service estimates, it was learned today, show some 1,090,000 single men in the 18-37 age bracket hold such deferments, divided as follows:

370,000 in Class 2-A, which covers those in necessary civilian jobs (Turn to Page Eleven)

Drive Against Japs Believed Being Mapped

By the Associated Press

A concerted United Nations offensive against Japan was foreshadowed today with the official disclosure that high-ranking American, British and Chinese military leaders have met and agreed on "offensive plans" against Japan's far-flung invasion armies.

The British government, announced in London that Field Marshal Sir John Dill, representing Prime Minister Churchill, and Lieut.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold, representing President Roosevelt, had held a series of conferences with China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Chungking last week. Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell in India.

A British communique said the fullest possible coordination would be insured by subsequent conferences between Marshal Wavell and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander-in-chief in the southwest Pacific.

Prime Minister Churchill told parliament in London that Gen. Chiang had expressed satisfaction about "strong additional help that will be provided for China at this stage of her long-drawn, undaunted struggle."

METER RECEIPTS DROP

Pittsburgh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—January receipts from Pittsburgh's parking meters reflected the sharp decline in the use of automobiles. The city took in $6,912 during January, 1942, compared with $4,181 last month, a 40 per cent drop.

Heavy Casualties Coming Is Warning of Secretary of War

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The nation should get set for heavy American casualties, "perhaps in the very near future," Secretary of War Stimson said today in a discussion of developing plans for driving the Axis from Africa.

The opposing armies in Tunisia are moving into position, he told a press conference, and heavy fighting is in prospect. This country is just beginning to participate in major offensive warfare, he said in his mention of casualties.

Reviewing the war's progress and finding "a budget of good news" for the United Nations in the last week, the war secretary

Red Army Forms Fifty-Mile-Long Assault Front Just East of City of Kharkov

EVACUATION IS HINTED

London, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A Red army tank sped full tilt into a German infantry column south of Kursk and churned more than a company to death with its caterpillar tracks, the Russian mid-day communique as recorded by the Soviet London radio monitor said today.

The tank not only mowed down the Nazi foot soldiers (possibly 200 men) but its batteries blazed away to knock out 18 anti-tank guns, the Russians said.

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Capturing settlements between Belgorod and Chuguyev, the Red army formed a 50-mile-long assault front just east of Kharkov today, and the fighting was reported mounting in other sectors of southern Russia.

The capture of Chuguyev, 22 miles southeast of Kharkov, and Volchansk, 36 miles northeast, was announced by the Russians early today, along with the seizure of Pechenegi, which is 12 miles north-east of Chuguyev.

A dispatch to Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said that after taking Chuguyev and Volchansk (Turn to Page Eleven)

ALLEGED MURDERER FAILS IN ESCAPE TRY

Washington, Pa., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Joseph Paul Daugherty, 40-year-old Pittsburgh youth on trial for the holdup slaying of Fortunato Doksis, made an unsuccessful attempt last night to escape from the court room after the jury had left. Deputy Sheriff James Cain reported.

Cain said Daugherty eluded with him, punched him and grabbed for his gun before two state motor patrolmen finally subdued the youth.

"I'd kill all of you if I had a gun," the officers quoted the youth as declaring as they led him to jail.

The trial went into its third day today.

Stolen Ration Cards Probed

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration resumed its investigation of an alleged gasoline black market today following the arrest of four persons, two of them policemen, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government. The alleged market involved stolen ration coupons for 200,000 gallons.

Held in $2,500 bail each for a federal grand jury are Patrolman John A. Crankshaw; his wife, Virginia, a ration board volunteer; Patrolman George W. Price; and Elmer K. Grinnor, an employee of a saw and munitions manufacturer.

State OPA Director Raymond Ashenfelter said that while agents were investigating four other suspects he had also ordered a complete examination of Ration Board No. 5 from whose office the stamps were stolen.

Mrs. Crankshaw worked at this office.

The arrests followed a raid on the Crankshaw home where OPA agents said they found stamps worth about 200,000 gallons of gasoline.

noted that advanced elements of the British 8th Army already have crossed the Tunisian border in pursuit of the German African corps while in western Tunisia British, American and French troops are consolidating their positions.

On other fronts, Stimson reported these developments:

The Russian victories are increasing in magnitude, with the German forces in the Caucasus facing destruction or a perilous evacuation either across the Kurch Straits, the Crimea or by sea from the Black Sea port of Novorossisk.

Attacked By Bull, Farmer Saved By Wife

C. C. Kuntz, of East Hickory, had a narrow escape from being killed by a vicious bull on his farm last Friday. Only the rare courage and presence of mind of Mrs. Kuntz saved Mr. Kuntz from death as the bull had thrown the man to the ground. The enraged animal was attempting to gore and trample the prostrate farmer when Mrs. Kuntz seized a pole and beat the bull over the head distracting its attention long enough for her husband to escape. Mr. Kuntz had been armed with a pitchfork, but this had been knocked out of his reach. Mr. Kuntz suffered many bruises and brush burns in the encounter during which he was rolled and trampled by the animal. Mrs. Kuntz is being congratulated on showing such bravery in attacking the animal and undoubtedly saving the life of her husband. The bull is a large one and has been known to be savage and hard to handle.

MEMBERS STILL NEEDED

Attention of sportsmen and others who are familiar with guns and their firing is called to the fact that members are still needed for the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps. This organization will be in charge of the defense of vital points in the area in which they are formed. None will be taken to other places for use in the war effort. There are 48 men now enrolled in the local Corps but it is hoped to secure others to receive the training. Age is no bar to membership. It is interesting to note in this connection that in Philadelphia only 67 men have been recruited with their own guns for the Corps. Warren has a better showing than the metropolis due doubtless to the fact that there are many sportsmen in this area.

Saturday Is Deadline In Knife Drive

The drive for "Save a Life With a Knife" has hit such a pace that the average attained for the slightly more than five day period of collection has hit over sixteen per day and the rapidly mounting lists point to a record for this size town by Saturday.

Sportsmen from all over the county have made it a special note to drop off their blades at the Don Finley Store and some ardent patriots have given every knife they owned, turning in as many as four apiece, while others parted with their one and only, to help our fighting men in the South Pacific battle the Jap at close quarters.

In the fourteen months of warfare, the companies formerly turning out knives of the best steel and in large quantities have dropped off their production to the point where it has become an absolute necessity for citizens of the United Nations to donate as many weapons as they can and the need for knives is one of those heading the list.

In less than a week the Finley store has collected a total of 96 blades and the enthusiasm of Warren citizens in cooperating with the drive is almost unmatched. Get that blade in by Saturday and have your name in with those who have donated to "Save a Life With a Knife", add your name to this list to be in Monday's edition, and let's surpass that 200 quota.

FRANK PAGE. Funeral services in memory of Frank Page of Kinzua, will be held Saturday afternoon, with a prayer at the home at 2:15 and a service in St. Luke's Episcopal church at 2:30. Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, of Warren, will officiate and interment will be in Kinzua cemetery.

RIKENBACKER TO SPEAK. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker will be heard twice on two networks Sunday. At 4:30 the BLU is to make a direct pickup of his address in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, on "American Boys and Girls' Future." He speaks as chairman of the National High School Victory Corps. At 6:30 MBS will relay a recording of the talk.

STILL SOME JOBLESS. From January 29 to February 4 there were disbursements of $193 in this area to 170 persons who are receiving jobless insurance. While the amount is smaller than it has been in some time it is considered high when there is such a demand for labor in the vicinity. Over the state slightly more than 10,000 payments were made disbursing $145,576. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh received most of the money.

HUNTING MOVIE MACHINE. Chairman Allen Gibson, of the Council of Defense, is trying to buy a moving picture machine that will show sound movies such as are being used by the defense organization to spread information. There are several machines in the county available at various places for the showing of the pictures and many of these will be used in schools and other places, but before various clubs there are some places where a machine is not available. Mr. Gibson is not anxious to spend any large sum for the machine and will be glad to purchase a machine in good condition at a reasonable sum. The money for the machine will be used from the sum set aside by the county commissioners for the defense work.

ELIA ANN HERTZEL

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Elia Ann Hertzelt will be at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Peterson Funeral Home, where friends may call at any time. Rev. J. H. Cruickshank, pastor of the North Warren Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be made in Oakland cemetery.

Besides those mentioned yesterday in the account of her death, Mrs. Hertzelt leaves the following grandchildren: Chester Burch, Williamsport; Kenneth Burch, Philadelphia; Willis Burch, Corry; Mrs. Vera Morine, Warren. In addition, there are three great-grandchildren, Harold and Gail Morine, Warren; Sue Ann Burch, Corry.

MRS. A. W. ARTER

Word was received in Warren last evening of the death of Mrs. Arman W. Arter at her home in Elyria, O. She was stricken with influenza on Sunday and passed away Wednesday afternoon. No further details were given in the message received. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Ensworth have gone to Elyria to attend the funeral services.

Mrs. Arter was well known in this city, as from girlhood she made her home here and was popular among a large circle of friends. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Neil Dunston, of Elyria, and Mary, at home. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Percy Richardson and Mrs. Byron Ensworth, of Warren; Mrs. M. H. DeLong, of North East, and one brother, John H. Vendersluys, of Toledo, O.

KATHERINE A. DWYER

Mrs. Katherine Acks Dwyer, widow of Patrick Dwyer, passed away at 12:05 a. m. today at her home, 1908 Pennsylvania avenue, east, following a lingering illness. Aged 61 years, she had been a resident of Warren for the past 28 years and was a member of the Holy Redeemer church. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Catherine Hagerman, of Warren, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Haunesser, of Oil City.

Funeral services will be held at nine o'clock Saturday morning at Holy Redeemer church, conducted by Father Salvatore Mitchell and followed by interment in St. Joseph's cemetery. Friends may call at the family home at any time and the rosary will be recited there at eight o'clock Friday evening.

WILLIAM J. MCNEIL

Relatives here received word this morning of the death at his home in Portland, Ore., of William J. McNeil, who formerly resided on Jackson avenue, city, and was employed by the old Gisholt Machine Company.

He leaves his wife, a sister of Mrs. D. C. Brasington, Warren, R. D. 1; three children in the west; seven grandchildren; one brother and one sister in Canada, where he was born. Other survivors include a nephew and four nieces: Ralph Brasington, Mrs. Guy McCloskey and Mrs. Freeman Johnson, Warren; Mrs. Eva Whitesell and Mrs. Dean Sharnan, North Warren.

Funeral services will be held in Portland on Monday.

TIDIOUTE LOSES GAME

Tionesta defeated Tidioute's basketball team by a score of 46-31 in a basketball game played last night at Tidioute. Sible and Smith were high scorers for Tidioute getting 29 of the points scored by the visitors. In a preliminary the Tidioute girls took a 22-11 decision from the Tionesta powder duffers.

WILL SHIP SILK STOCKINGS

Old silk stockings will be shipped Saturday. Mrs. H. W. Conarro, chairman of the Consumers Division, asks all local folk to deposit their old silk and Nylon stockings in the containers at the stores. Collectors are also asked to have the stockings at the Woman's Club Saturday 11 o'clock so that they may be shipped. The stockings are used for the making of powder bags and the need is urgent.

DREW USUAL FINE

William Berch arrested some days ago by Warren police and charged with operating a motor car while intoxicated was given a fine of $100 and costs by Judge Allison Wade, Wednesday in a short session of court. Berch will also lose all legal right to operate an automobile. E. H. Beshlin was appointed as guardian of Elvira Hazen and Bonnie Hartnett was returned to the workhouse to finish a sentence following the violation of his parole. A number of motions and petitions were also heard.

FOURTEEN CASES CLOSED

During the month of January 14 cases receiving assistance from the state were closed in this county. Of the number one was receiving general assistance; 11 were receiving old age assistance; one dependent child was aided and one blind pension was discontinued. Thirteen new cases were opened: three being given general assistance; four old age aid; five dependent children given succor and one blind pension allowed. In all Warren county now has 494 cases receiving aid with the sum of $660 being paid out.

NEW IDENTIFYING INSIGNIA

A new system of identifying vehicles permitted to operate during air raid alarms will go into effect next Wednesday, February 17. The new system will be mandatory in the sixteen states and District of Columbia in the Eastern Defense Command, and James M. Landis, director of civilian defense, has asked the rest of the country to adopt the same regulations. Replacing windshield stickers, the new identification is a white triangular pennant with the "CD" insignia upon it in red letters. At night, the pennant must be supplemented by a mask fitting over the right headlight in such a way as to show the letters "CD" in green.

Army Nurse Enthusiastic Over Work In Government Hospital

Lt. F. Mabel Parker, one of seven women representing the Warren State Hospital School of Nursing in the United States Army Nursing Corps, is enjoying a ten-day furlough from her duties at Lawson General Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., to visit her mother, Mrs. Ella Parker, and her sister, Mrs. G. B. Delp, who reside on the Warren-Jamestown road.

Graduate of the training school at the local institution, Lt. Parker was employed there in supervisory and teaching capacities until she was granted a military leave of absence by the hospital to go to Atlanta on October 26, 1941.

Upon entering Lawson General Hospital, she was engaged in orthopedic work until last October, when she was transferred to the chief nurses' office. On January 1, 1943, she was commissioned a first lieutenant and graded a chief nurse.

Most enthusiastic about the Army Nursing Corps, she recommends it without reservation to all members of her profession. She leaves tomorrow to return to her duties.

She has been entertained informally by a number of friends since coming home; affairs including a party given by Mrs. Rhea Brennan of North Warren, on Monday night and a tea given Tuesday night by the Hospital Alumni Association, when she was honored guest and a speaker during the program-meeting.

Other nurses representing the hospital in the armed forces today are Bessie I. Young, chief nurse in the station hospital at Douglas Field, Ariz.; Anne McDermott, chief nurse in Oahu Emergency Hospital; Catherine Castellini, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.; Verna Heisterman, New Cal-donia; Ruth Mallick, Fort Belvoir, Md.; Mabel Reed, Camp Lee, Va.

Rossman Gave Talk On Maps Before Club

Youngsville, Feb. 10—Youngs-ville Business and Professional Woman's Club heard Monday ev-ening at the meeting held at Mrs. Nellie Anderson's an interesting and instructive talk by J. G. Ross-man, Superintendent of Warren Schools. Several invited guests were present. Mrs. Rossman ac-companied her husband.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. Lola Walter in the chair as the group read the col-lect, which was followed by a piano selection by Miss Janet Jones. Miss Gildia Hill, program leader introduced Dr. Rossman whose theme was "Maps". He con-sidered first the maps of early history centering around the Medi-terranean sea and extending out into territory "Unknown". Then Columbus opened up some of this unknown land and the world was known to be a sphere. Most maps do not give the true proportions of the world, as they show the world as an open cylinder with the polar regions out of proportion.

Mr. Rossman showed a modern streamlined map with the north pole in the center. This type of map shows very clearly how much shorter are the air routes to Euro-pe from Central United States than are the land and water routes. This fact promises to play an important part not only in war conditions but in the future life of the world. A plane can fly from United States to Europe in a com-paratively few hours, by the route of the Arctic regions.

A business session was held after the program. There was some discussion of the style show to be held this spring. Miss Ostroski agreed to help in securing girls for models. The matter was left for further consideration at the March meeting.

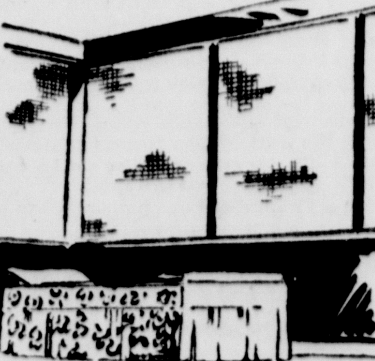

Miss Glodia Hill and Mrs. Nellie Anderson reported a visit to the Girl Scout meeting and it was de-cided to purchase some tools for the art and craft work of the Girl Scouts. It was also decided to do some Red Cross work for which material will be provided later. Pleasing refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bradway.

ENTERTAINED FOR CADET
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Conklin and Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Smith enter-tained on Sunday evening at a family dinner at their home. The dinner remembered the birthday of Mrs. Robert Patch and also hon-ored Arthur Bogren, Jr., who left on Monday for the reception Cen-ter in Nashville, Tenn., where he will enter service as an air cadet. Arthur, Jr., has been in defense work in the Pittsburgh section since receiving word of his accept-ance as an air cadet. All those present at the dinner party Sun-day as well as many other friends wish him success in his new field.

FEAR FOR POTATO CROP

Pennsylvania potato growers will be forced to reduce plantings 25 per cent this spring compared to last year unless the farm labor and machinery outlook brightens in the near future, it is estimated by the Pennsylvania Agricultural Information Committee.

This is a particularly interesting development in view of the fact that the Warren County Potato Growers Association is holding the annual meeting at the Y. M. C. A. here today.

P. D. Frantz, eastern division manager of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association and potato industry spokesman for the information committee, said the estimate was based on talks with key members of the cooperative representing a cross-section of the state's growers in nearly every county.

A 25 per cent reduction would bring plantings down to approximately 117,750 acres for the state, compared to 157,000 acres last year, Frantz explained.

The presentation of the potato industry's current situation is one of a series of "farm front" studies being prepared by the Pennsylvania Agricultural Information Committee, organized last month as a clearing house for information on food production in the state. The committee, under the chairmanship of R. N. Benjamin, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Federation, represents nearly all of the state's 170,000 farmer-producers.

Frantz pointed out that potato production is largely dependent on highly skilled machine operators, many of whom have left farms for the armed forces or factories. Furthermore, quotas for new machinery available to farmers have been set for below 1940-41 levels, he added.

"As the situation stands today, growers believe that it will simply be impractical to plant as much as they did last year. As nearly as they can determine, they just will not be able to handle production on larger acreage with the limited supply of men and machines which apparently will be available," he said.

"Although reports from many small 'farm patch' operators seem to indicate acreage increases for 1943, these reports do not take commercial production into account. Commercial producers represent only about 30 per cent of total potato acreage in the state, but they actually grow about two-thirds of the potatoes produced," Frantz explained.

IT'S A WAR MEASURE, FOLKS!

For the benefit of folks who may be scolding a little about the new four-column strips appearing on the comic page of the Times-Mirror, we reprint a few paragraphs from a letter received from NEA Service, Inc., which furnishes these particular features to us.

Explaining the change the communication says: "The supply of zinc for civilian use is limited. It is needed in the war. The supply of news-print is going to be more and more limited. Pulp products are needed in the war.

"To conserve zinc and news-print space NEA asks all of its clients who are now using five column comics to accept in their stead the four column size which we have been producing the past year. Experience has shown that the four column comics, when produced at the depth we have been using, are just as effective as the five column size.

"Production of the comic in two sizes naturally represents duplicating use of zinc. We are going to need all the zinc allotted to us to maintain other features of the service without duplicating comic production, and may we suggest that as time goes on, you are going to need the space that will be saved by reduction of the comic size.

"If all newspapers and all syndicates would take this action, the saving in vital material would be tremendous."

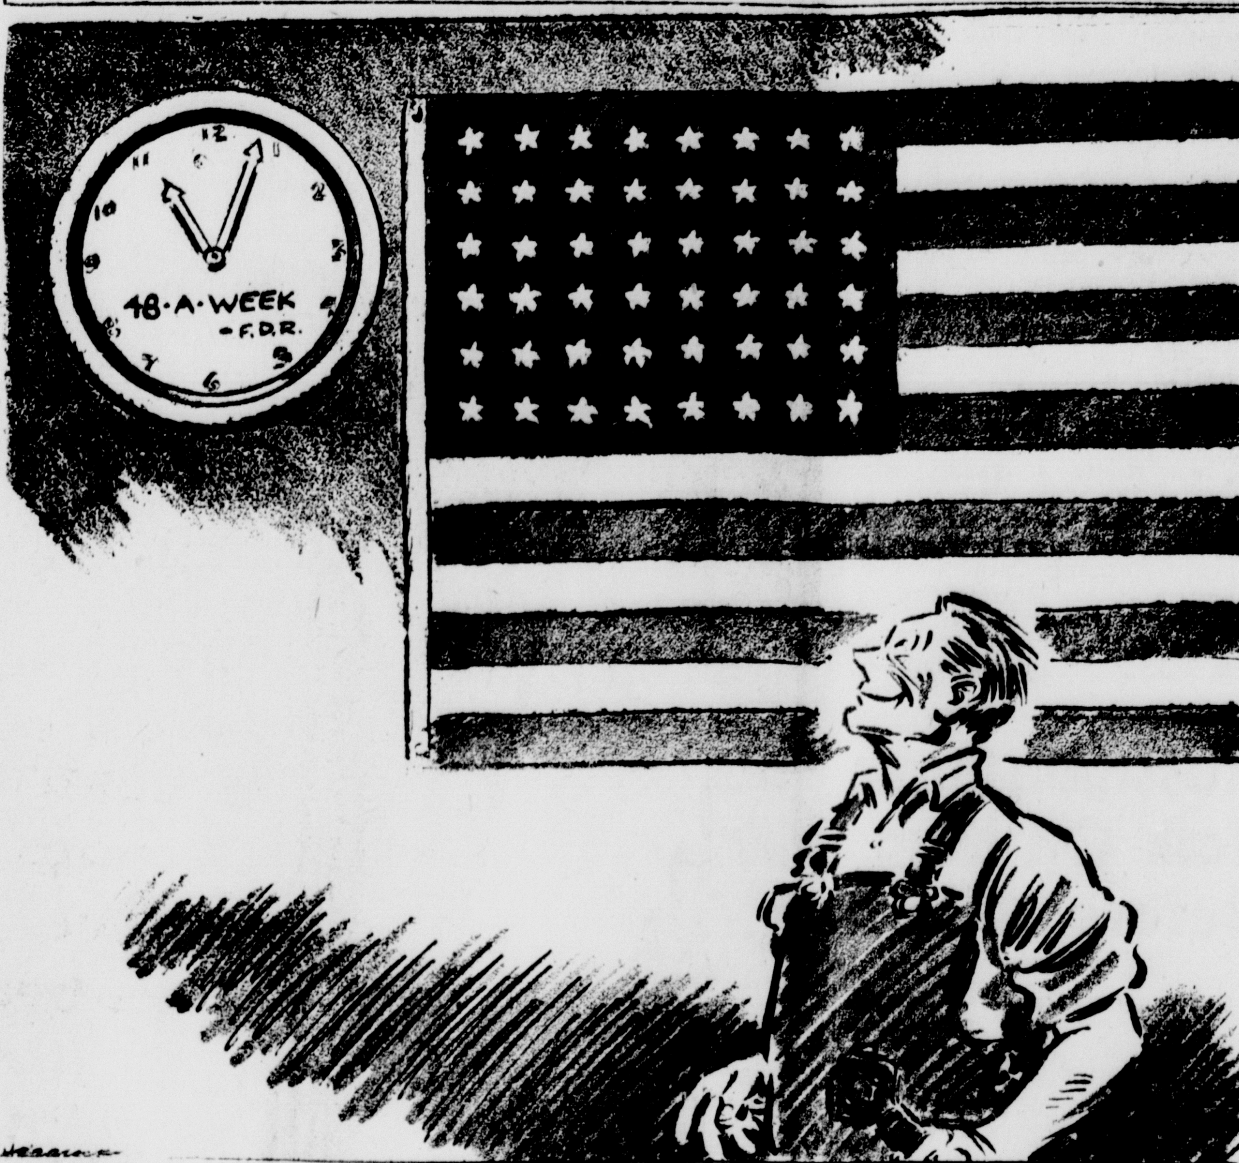

With snow and ice covering the county at present, a great many farmers are engaged in work about their farm buildings. It is suggested that they use part of this time in segregating their scrap. It offers an excellent opportunity to remove nuts, bolts and other parts for future use. This should be done now, and all the farm scrap piled together so that it may be removed to the scrap yards as soon as the Spring Scrap Collection begins.

An evening of rare entertainment is assured playgoers who are planning to see the Warren Players Club 33rd public production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," appearing at the Woman's Club tonight and tomorrow evening. Qualified critics say its dramatic situations and comedy scenes make it well worth walking or hitch-hiking to get there.

Sometimes we think an ultimate consumer is getting to be a bad habit.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital in Wartime:

No statistical data of any importance on the subject is available here yet, but one of the best labor stories of this war is the opportunity being provided the physically handicapped—the legless, armless, deaf, dumb and blind—to contribute to the war effort.

The one figure that gives some indication of what is happening is that Civil Service has taken on more than 2,000 physically handicapped persons since the United States entered the war.

The blind are dictaphone typists, operators of punch card and other machines, inspectors. Deaf and dumb persons are typists and operators of all types of calculating and tabulating machines. Chauffeurs and truck drivers with one arm or an artificial leg are not uncommon.

At the same time, stories are drifting into Washington from many states that almost complete departments of war factories produce outstanding results with physically handicapped labor.

When the Department of Labor gets all the facts of this, it may provide one of the real human interest stories of war on the home front.

ALL the upsets in the last November elections didn't upset the fact that a law degree still is the best passport to Congress. Far more than half—207 members—put their feet on the political ladder after admission to the bar.

What It Means

By JOHN GROVER

IT'S going to take a political maestro to evoke harmony from the Democratic party organ in this session of Congress.

In the minds of veteran observers, that was the clear implication of the intramural warfare in the pre-withdrawal battle over confirmation of Ed Flynn as minister to Australia. The separate components of the Democratic party are out of tune.

Press polls of the Senate indicated Flynn would have been rejected as the result of Democratic defection. Behind that fact are interesting angles that point to definite trends in the current Congress.

First, 1938 purge chickens are coming home to roost. The President's ill-starred attempt to erase New Deal dissidents in that election still rankles. It didn't make so much difference in the 1939 and 1941 sessions. The Democratic majority was so wide the handful of purge-designates could not make their weight count, but they may well constitute the balance of power in this Senate. They haven't forgotten 1938, as indicated by the Flynn poll.

South On Warpath

Second, Southern Democrats are on the warpath. They argue with some logic that they are the hard core of the party. In lean years, they make all the party yardage in Capitol Hill scrimmages. They openly aver that big city Democratic machines and New Deal latecomers to the party fold are getting a disproportionate share of party power.

When Boss Crump of Memphis, Tenn., publicly deserted the Flynn cause it was a tipoff. The week before, Dixie Democrats in the House torpedoed Administration plans to seat Rep. Vito Marcantonio (A-L-N.Y.) on the Judiciary Committee. The Southern bloc is determined to force concessions from the Administration. With the Democratic majority narrowed to a thin line in both houses, they've got the tickets to make their demands stick. Crump's defection is the first public revolt of a powerful southern Democratic organiza-

There are 232 legal lights in the House and 65 in the Senate. There are seven doctors in the House, but none in the Senate, although the latter has one optometrist.

The second largest professional aggregation in Congress is composed of business men; the third of publishers, editors and reporters. Bankers have one representative in the Senate, 12 in the House. There's a sprinkling of farmers and stockmen on both sides of the Capital.

THAT old storm center of more than one legislative ruckus, daylight saving time, now called wartime, is in for another going over.

Rep. Walter E. Brehm, of Ohio, brought it up but there still is plenty of opposition to keeping the clocks an hour ahead of standard time and Congressman Brehm has appealed for help to repeal it.

"If I read the times aright, and if as we are told, fool will win the war, then it seems to me increased production is more essential to the war effort than the saving of a few kilowatt hours, though you will first have to prove that it actually does save power before I will concede that point," he said.

There it is again, the old fight between the farmers and the industrialists over changing the face of the clock to make it read one more hour of day shift sunlight. The idea around Washington had been that the daylight saving scrap was dead and buried for the duration.

tion against the will of the party chief.

Third, the solid Republican lineup against Flynn is clear notice that Minority Leader Charles McNary, the astute Oregon veteran, has his cohorts under disciplined control. They're ready to throw a unified punch whenever the Administration leaves an opening.

These factors carry the makings of a political Donnybrook. Never in the ten years of the New Deal has the Administration skated on such thin political ice.

War Effort Okayed

Summed up, it's the consensus of press gallery analysts that the new forces in this Congress won't impede the war effort. Anybody who tried would get singled by public opinion. Capitol Hill mail generally indicates that the people are satisfied with conduct of the war abroad.

On the home front, the experts see another story unfolding. There'll be plenty said in this Congress about domestic policies, and it won't be sweet nothings. The blank check days are over. In prior Congresses, the Administration told 'em, and the mill functioned. This time, the President and his policy-makers must woo the votes for which they formerly snapped their fingers, if the temper of this session has been correctly judged.

Biggest trump in the Administration hand is the "Assistant President," Jimmy Byrnes. He has the respect and regard of all the Senate and most of the House. Old heads say that if Byrnes can steer the ultra-liberals away from pet New Deal legislation, and concentrate on hard-headed conduct of the war on the home front, there's a chance for smooth sailing.

This view implies some handsome gestures to placate the conservative Southerners and the near-purges of 1938. It means economy in non-essentials. It means the farm and labor views of the Southern bloc must get respectful attention.

Otherwise it's predicted that a lot of Democrats will cross the aisle to join a solid GOP minority in making the home front hot for the New Deal stalwarts of the past ten years.

VFW Women Will Purchase Submarine

Mrs. Elmer Munksgard, Crescent street, who is president of the Chief Complanter Post American Legion Auxiliary, has been named by Pennsylvania Auxiliary President Miller to lead the drive for $16,146.30 in war bonds and stamps, this county's quota in the "Sponsor a Fighting Ship" campaign.

In its statewide campaign, the Pennsylvania Auxiliary has set a goal of $3,000,000 to be raised by cash sales of "E" war savings bonds, computing the total at the issue price.

The sum of $3,000,000 will purchase a small submarine and it will be named in spirit by every one of the 48,000 members of Pennsylvania's American Legion Auxiliary and by the many thousands of "E" bond subscribers whose money will purchase it.

Donald C. Smith, recently appointed to the war savings staff in Warren county, appeals to all patriotic minded persons to get behind the Auxiliary members and buy the sub which may be the instrument that will end the war.

Adolf's Namesake

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mittel, native-born New Yorkers, eye their son, Adolf Hitler Mittel, less than a month old. The father, of German-Austrian ancestry, swore he'd name a son after Herr Schicklgruber in lieu of triplets. He said he didn't think it would be a handicap.

HEALTH RECORD HIGH Due to advancements in medical treatment and careful preparation, American soldiers, sailors and marines all over the world probably have a better health record than any other body of troops, according to insurance statistics.

FOOD COSTS UP 42 PER CENT The Labor Bureau's food cost index shows a rise of 42 per cent from August, 1939—a month before the war began—to December, 1942. Foods uncontrolled by the OPA—mostly fresh fruits and vegetables—are responsible for the greater part of the increase, the figures indicate.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—One of the Hollywood restaurants doesn't serve Vichyssoise any more. Its cold potato soup is now De Gaulle Soisse. And few have given up sauerkraut in favor of Liberty cabbage. But Irving Berlin is still welcome at all of them, and nobody has decided he should become Irving London.

Mail department: Harvey Parry, the stunt man, writes that he and fellow-stunters who are giving their time and talents to camp and hospital shows from San Diego north to Paso Robles and inland some 150 miles, are in a transportation spot. The outfit they travel with has a bus, but "we the stunt people on show day may be and are scattered at various studios, and our hours are such that we often cannot meet the bus." John Dahiem and I have been using our cars to haul equipment, wardrobe and our people to these shows which, of course, we receive no pay for.

The stunters' problem is gasoline—they've been told by their rationing boards that the O.P.A. doesn't consider such trips "essential." "If you could see these boys in camps and hospitals—and see how much this entertainment means to them," Parry writes, "it would make you proud to be an entertainer." Maybe I am a little over-patriotic and hot because I have a son in the Marines who is in the Solomon's, Pvt. Donald Parry.

Well, how about it, Washington? Is there a ruling to cover such cases?

IT seems there really is a Jennifer Jones, for all my doubting it. Besides the Hollywood one who plays "The Song of Bernadette" and is really Phyllis Love, there's Jennifer—one "n"—Jones of Urbanna, Va. Jennifer from Urbanna is 14, and she writes, "I think it's very funny to read about myself in the movies. . . . Jennifer is a family name that runs back generations in my family. . . . I thought I would write and tell you that there is such a person as, Sincerely yours, Jennifer Jones."

Michele Morgan, introduced with such ballyhoo in last year's "Joan of Paris" is up for the musical, "Higher and Higher." . . . Funny how Michele's less tomboyed co-star in "Joan," Paul Henreid, has made faster progress—in "Now, Voyager" and "Casablanca" . . . But maybe not so funny when the shortage of personable males is considered.

FATS WALLER, the Negro genius of the hot piano, is playing in "Stormy Weather," the all-Negro musical—and you should see him trying to conform his "style" to camera technique. Fats, who plays it his own way, and different every time, has to play it the same way for the camera. . . . Gary Cooper and Lynne Overman both due to go into "The Story of Dr. Wassell," met at Paramount and Cooper mentioned finishing "For Whom the Bell Tolls." "Uh-huh," said Lynne, "Out of the sleeping bag into the fire!"

NEVER "BORROW" AGAINST YOUR HEALTH

You Do That When You Fail to Eat Properly—and the Day of Reckoning Always Comes

Self-imposed diets usually do more harm than good. The body cannot function properly when certain necessary food elements are lacking. In order to keep going, one part of the body "borrows" either from a reserve supply or from tissues and muscles.

This breaks down the body tissues and later causes illness. "Borrowing" is thus a bad habit. Haven't you often seen people who, while eating the wrong foods, seem to go on and on for quite some time without visible effects? Apparently they are never aware that what they are doing is "borrowing" from other parts of the body and that a day of atonement must follow.

An adequate diet comprises all the food essentials in proper balance and in sufficient quantities to maintain the body in a state of health.

1) Energy Foods — Supplies heat energy and other forms of energy for the activity of the body in work and play. There is a direct relation between the amount of work performed, the heat produced by the body, and the total food intake. These are chosen from Carbohydrates, Starch, and Sugar Foods, and Fats such as Butter, Lard, Cream, Nuts, etc.

2) Protein Foods — Builds and repairs body tissues. Every day our body tissues are constantly undergoing a process known as "wear and tear," so every day we must include Protein Foods to build new and repair old tissues. Milk is a Complete Protein. Some Common Protein Foods are Meat, Poultry, Fish, Milk, Cheese, Legumes, Eggs.

3) Protective Foods—Regulate body processes. Vitamins and Minerals are essential for the body to function properly. Vitamins cannot do the work of any other dietary essential; they only assist in performing their functions. Neither can any one Vitamin take the place of another Vitamin. There is very poor vitamin storage in the body, so regular intake is important. We suggest a daily generous supply of Fruits and Vegetables.

4) Water—Water is a body regulator. It helps to keep the body at correct temperature, the blood stream liquid, and aids in elimination. Normally we need 6 to 8 glasses of water every day. With these foods you don't have to worry for fear one part of your body is borrowing against another and paving the way for future illness.

COPPER USE CUT 10% The 24,000,000 pound of copper turned over to scrap dealers by the nation's electric utilities during 1942 represented approximately 10 per cent of their annual copper needs. The electric industry is the largest user of the metal.

FIR IS STEEL SUBSTITUTE Public utility companies have gone to considerable lengths to conserve vital war materials by devising substitutes. One company saves more than 20 tons of steel a year by making crossarms of salvaged fir instead of metal.

Patriotic Program Is Tribute Paid Young People In Services

Forty-five red, white and blue candles lighted during a patriotic program given at Grace church Tuesday evening by members of the Truth Seekers Class paid tribute to 44 young men and one young woman who have gone from the congregation to enter the armed forces.

The program was preceded by a well attended supper and brief business session. The opening number was "America," with Mrs. Olive Niemann and Mrs. Ruth Lindquist as soloists and the fourth verse sung as a prayer by the entire assembly.

An inspiring talk on "Women in the Service of the Home, Country and Church" was given by Mrs. Carl Lundahl, president of the YWCA and a fine talk on "Service" was delivered by Pastor H. L. Knappenberg.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Niemann, Mrs. Lindquist, Mrs. Dorothy Nelson and Mrs. Beulah Krebs, sang two numbers, "The Land of Hope" and "Honor." To conclude, Mrs. Margaret Drivas sang "America the Beautiful" and a verse of "God Bless America," with all joining in the chorus.

Thrills In Store For Audiences of Players Offering

"Arsenic and Old Lace," 33rd public production of the Warren Players, opens this evening in the Woman's Club auditorium with an 8:30 curtain. The play, in three acts, is rated the best of its kind on tour today.

Long weeks of arduous rehearsal lie behind, and an all-star cast will soon make-up to thrill the opening night audience—an audience which little knows what laugh and thrills are in store for it when the curtain rises. Those who are in the know say there isn't a moment in the entire play but what is tops in entertainment.

Tickets are available until curtain time and reservations may be made at the box office Friday from 11 a. m. to curtain time for the second performance, likewise scheduled at 8:30 p. m.

STATE HOSPITAL ALUMNI MEETING

The Misses Dorothy I. Peterson and Mildred Van Sickle were hostesses Tuesday evening for the regular meeting of the Warren State Hospital Alumni, entertaining 34 members and guests. First Lt. Mabel Parker, stationed at Lawson General Hospital and now on furlough, gave a very interesting talk on army nursing.

Miss Helen Olsen, delegate to the district meeting, presented a fine report on Sister Lauretine's talk on Red Cross nursing, warning that "if the nurses do not become more interested, they will surely be defeated." Letters were read from nurses overseas, after which the hostesses served a delightful Valentine luncheon in the recreation room of the nurses' home.

FOR MISS ETTINGER

Miss Rose Seale entertained with a spaghetti supper Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Adelaide Ettinger, awaiting orders for WAVE assignment. Guests were the Misses Kathryn Pearson, Marie Swanson, Frieda Dahler, Martha Dahler, June Green, Victoria Chiodo.

Few Vacancies Yet Exist In Day Class For Nurse's Aide Instruction

Warren has already had occasion to look with pride on the 42 new members of the nursing profession, the Red Cross Nurse's Aides, and very soon two new classes will start on instruction and practice work. There are still a few vacancies in enrollment for the day class, scheduled to begin February 22, but the night class has been completely filled and its initial session will be announced soon.

Pictured above are 36 members of the Pioneer and Vera Martindale classes of Aides, taken at the recent capping of the second group. Reading from left to right they are:

row: Gladys Brezee, Josephine Lucia, Beatrice Hansen, Edna Welsh, Marion Dove, Nina Mack, Romaine Peterson, Ruth Brindis, Ruth Olson, Barbara Ebel, Mary Hubley.

Nurse's Aides have demonstrated they "can take it" in many localities since war has begun and Aide Elinor Wallace Allen provides additional proof in her recital in the Red Cross Journal of happenings during the Cocacut Grove tragedy in Boston. She writes:

"Every Aide called that first night responded at once; not one begged leave to wait until morning. Husbands agreed to shift for themselves. Friends and neighbors came in to care for young children. Taxi drivers used their wives to get Aides through police lines and traffic jams. Aides who could not be reached by phone called when they heard of the holocaust by radio. There was not the slightest difficulty in filling Nurse's Aides quotas set for each hospital.

"All Aides accepted whatever job had to be done without question. Nothing was too hard or too awful for them. They assisted doctors in blood transfusions, made and remade beds, brought coffee to keep doctors and nurses alert throughout night and day, comforted and encouraged patients, and endlessly forced liquids through swollen lips.

"They did not have to be told what to do. One found a kitchen full of dishes; one on hands and knees, to avoid raising dust, cleaned a floor littered with pieces of burned clothing, hair and bits of glass and gauzes. I mention these because they were things that made it easier for doctors and nurses to work—one reason for being there."

When questioned on her own reactions, the author replied: "I was conscious only that there was work—work on a far greater scale than I ever had been called upon to face. Yet my one reaction was to do whatever had to be done. If any act of mine could ease a victim's suffering, or help the doctors and nurses who alone would swing the balance from death to life, then nothing they asked was too great or too hard."

Truly, this is service.

Girl Scout Display Most Interesting

Announcement is made by Girl Scouts, Inc., of the appointment of the Metzger-Wright Company here as an official Girl Scout equipment agency. An attractive shop is being set up on the third floor of the store and plans are complete for a formal opening.

Saturday of this week has been chosen for the opening so that it may be possible for out of town Girl Scouts and their parents to attend it while on their weekly shopping trip.

"Girl Scouts—Equipped for Service" is the theme of the style show which will be held on the second floor of the store at 3 p. m. Saturday. The practical nature as well as the attractiveness of uniforms and other equipment will be demonstrated. The same models who show the Girl Scout equipment will display school, sport and dress clothes for girls from seven to eighteen for spring, 1943.

Following the style show, tea will be served in the Girl Scout Shop. Personal invitations have been sent to all members of the organization in the county.

The appointment of Metzger-Wright Company as official outfitters marks a new epoch in the growth of Girl Scouting locally. For many years, Mrs. T. L. Armstrong has given volunteer service in acting as agent in Warren county and many hundreds of hours have been given by her to Girl Scouts and parents of Girl Scouts. Her efforts have paved the way to the new Girl Scout Shop.

Later Date Set For Lecture In YMCA Course

Ralph H. Wagner, general secretary of the YMCA, was advised by telephone last evening that it will be impossible for Margaret Bourke-White to be in Warren on Monday evening for her scheduled lecture engagement.

Associated Press dispatches yesterday reported Miss White's return from an assignment in North Africa, the result of which has been a summons by the war department to conferences in Washington the first of next week. Since her arrival has been delayed beyond the projected time, her lecture schedule has become a very tight one and she has been obliged to make a number of cancellations and postponements.

Arrangements were completed this morning, however, which will make it possible for her to come to Warren at a later date, set for Friday, April 16.

Her recent experiences as ace photographer and flying foreign war correspondent will make doubly interesting the talk which she will present to the Warren audience.

Guarding Our Back Door

Framed in a log doorway, Pfc. Willard Gates of Delaplane, Ark., makes an impressive picture of vigilance as he stands guard duty at a snowy Army post in Alaska.

Planes Without Equal Aim of U. S. Industry

Companies that never thought of making aircraft parts are helping to supply one of our essential military needs—warplanes. Here a router cuts alloy sheets in as many as a dozen identical parts with one operation in a plant of Pullman-Standard, which pioneered the streamlined train, and is now producing subassemblies for big bombers.

Warplanes require precious aluminum and the U. S., in 1943, will outproduce the Axis. Major portion will come from Alcoa plants—much of it in the form of high-strength alloy sheet—“skin” for bombers and fighters. In the mill pictured above, a single sheet, two city blocks long, is produced every minute.

By George Stauter
WASHINGTON (Special) — American-made warplanes—dealers of death and destruction to the Axis—are blazing the way for Uncle Sam's fighting forces on world-wide battlefronts.

These bombers and fighters—Beech Flying Fortresses, Consolidated Liberators, Douglas Dauntless dive bombers, North American Mustangs and others—are enabling the United Nations to wrest air supremacy from the enemy.

To meet demands of our air strategy for planes and more planes, particularly bombers and fighters without equal, American industry, with its resourcefulness and genius, has gone all-out to produce new and even startling advances for our aircraft—1943 models.

One of the most important is a lighter and stronger aluminum alloy—the “skin” and many of the “bones” of planes—which the Aluminum Company of America has developed along with forged aluminum cylinder heads, forged hollow propellers and other innovations that, by decreasing weight, permit planes to fly faster, cruise farther and carry heavier loads.

Symbolizing war expansion, one Alcoa mill is today turning out in one month one and one-half times as much high-strength alloy sheet as the whole nation used in an entire year before the war.

Yet these are but a few of the indications that American industry has tremendous muscles of resourcefulness which it is flexing to keep this country's aviation preeminent.

Dealers Not To Be Prosecuted At This Time

Dealers in cigarettes breathed freer today as they learned that at the present time no prosecutions will be made for the sale of cigarettes to minors in violation of the state law. There were in all 23 violations run down by the police and statements were secured from the minors relative to the place of the sales.

The information was turned over to the district attorney's office and after consultation with the chief of police, burgess and others it was decided that no prosecutions be made at this time. The idea is not to prosecute anyone but to break up the practice of allowing minors to buy cigarettes and cigarette papers. To that end every merchant has been individually warned and any future offenses will be punished as the law provides.

UTILITIES AID SCRAP DRIVE
The scrap drives and salvage programs conducted over the nation by electric utility companies netted 24,000,000 pounds of copper for the war effort during 1942, a survey reveals. Aluminum, brass, iron, steel lead, zinc, rubber and other scarce metals also were collected.

not only by the skill of engineers of the great airplane and engine companies, but by increasing attention to aviation problems on the part of many important companies never before in the field. One example is the development by Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, leader in home heating and industrial controls, of an electronic ice indicator. This detects and measures the accumulation of ice on wings and tail surfaces of airplanes.

In the perfection of such devices, American engineers are proving more than a match for the Axis. But perhaps the greatest source for optimism about the future of our arms in Europe and the Pacific is the way companies which before the war had little or no experience in aircraft production have put their shoulders to the wheel to meet the need for thousands of warplanes. The Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company, which gave America the streamlined train, for instance, is turning out wing and tail assemblies for the largest two- and four-motored cargo planes—at a steadily expanding rate, and the government today is looking to the company for fulfillment of orders 14 times the original contract.

In its aircraft work, company engineers have been able to take advantage of past experience in handling aluminum alloys and other light metals when building modern railway equipment. Herein lies one of the secrets of American industry's adaptability to the “alien” and insatiable demands of war—its resourcefulness in applying to many fields of production the results and accomplishments in one particular field.

NATION-WIDE SERVICE GROCERS

These Canned Goods Aren't Rationed

Here's a housewife whose well-stocked shelves don't make Uncle Sam mad, for they're home-grown, home-canned vegetables and fruits. Mrs. Frank Donahue of Cleveland grew most of the foods in her victory garden last year—just as most Americans plan to do in 1943—and prepared for canned goods rationing by doing her own canning. Note prophetic headline on last spring's shelf paper.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Delmar Mickelson and Mrs. Arthur Stauffer were hostesses to the WSCS at the former's home Thursday afternoon at which twelve members and one guest were present.

Mrs. F. A. Schenover presided. The society will serve a soup supper February 11, and members are also selling handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Margaret Bindley from the WSCS and Mrs. Neil Scott from the C. O. Circle will represent the Methodist church on the committee for the World's Day of Prayer service, March 12.

Mrs. Carleton Foss announced a study course to be conducted by her in two-hour classes over a period of three weeks, beginning the last Thursday in February.

Mrs. Foss was program leader with Mrs. Frank Dorn as pianist and Mrs. Hobart Sanders conducting the devotions. Mrs. Jesse Thompson and Mrs. Foss gave a dialogue and Mrs. Foss conducted a quiz, with all taking part, on the topic of South America. The hostesses served refreshments.

The Reading Club met Tuesday evening in the school auditorium with the president, Mrs. Allan Frank, presiding. Mrs. Carleton Foss was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Roy Briggs announced the sophomore class was conducting a Tag Day for the benefit of the Sugar Grove Library. Miss Doris Engstrom, music supervisor of the schools, presented the program. A very fine paper, "The History of the Orchestra," was given by her, followed by a description of the instruments used in orchestras. She also gave a description of some favorite symphonies. The film, "The Woodwind Choir," was shown, after which Barbara Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, played a clarinet solo, with Miss Engstrom, accompanist. The program closed with the recorded music of two movements of Tchaikovsky's Sixth Symphony. Mrs. Rachel Jones will present a book review at the next meeting with Miss Margaret Fey as hostess.

George Barnes, son of S. G. and the late Mrs. Barnes, who left for New Cumberland with the contingent Friday morning, has been honored with several parties the past week. Mrs. Laverne Inwood and family of Fredonia entertained at a family party Sunday for him. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barnes entertained a group of young men at a dinner party at their home in Sheffield Wednesday night, and Thursday night S. G. Barnes entertained a group of young men at the Sugar Grove Hotel, at a dinner party.

THE American public, cut off by war priorities and conversions from customary purchases of household goods, is ready to unleash pent-up purchasing power of almost 15 billion dollars at war end. This breakdown, based on a continuing survey sponsored by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, shows what would be bought within six months if the war should end overnight; an extended war or other circumstances would probably alter at least some of the figures. The Chamber survey, obtained through nationwide sampling, shows that 81 per cent of the nation's 35,000,000 households are accumulating money through some form of savings. The breakdown of number of families planning to buy does not check with the column total because of some overlapping.

Air Wardens Will Receive Equipment

What is expected to be the most important meeting ever held by the air raid wardens of the borough has been called for Monday evening in the High School building. At this meeting the equipment for the wardens will be distributed and every warden will receive his helmet and other equipment to be used in alerts. The helmets are of the design adapted as the safest and most useful and will afford protection from falling missiles in event of a raid. Each helmet weighs three pounds and bears the insignia of the air raid warden service.

In addition to the distribution of the equipment Chief Warden William Stuart and Assistant Chief Harry Christenson have some important and confidential information to disseminate and there will also be a short period of instruction.

Three training films will be shown. These are highly important and all three have received the approval of the National Council of Defense. One of particular interest refers to the air raid warden; another shows the work of rescue squads, and the third shows what fire watchers do in event of a raid. Some of these are in color and all are of value to the wardens who at any time may be forced into duty of a similar kind.

It is urged that every warden be present and as there are about 200 in the city the heads of the Air Raid Warden Corps feels that it is not too much to ask that 100% attendance be at this gathering.

Highway Dept. Busy Fighting Snow Storm

Employees of the State Highway Department have had a busy week and since Sunday have put in some strenuous days. The storm of Sunday swept over almost the whole county, but its full effect fell on the rural roads and plows were kept busy keeping the highways open for traffic.

The roads between Warren and Corry, Warren and Enterprise and Warren and Tidouche have been plowed during the early today as over two inches of snow had fallen in that area. Ice was also a problem on the highways today as the drop in temperature turned the slush on the roads at 6:30 this morning into ice, calling for hard work by the cinder crew.

As the day progressed some plows were sent out and if the storm continues tonight the whole number of crews will be on the roads with plows and cinder trucks.

The problem of cinders this year has been fairly well solved by the heavy freight movements which have piled up cinders galore at the local roundhouse. Some cinders were also secured at the State Hospital and some from the Bradford Penn. refinery. In addition to all of these, several carloads were unloaded for use on the highways in the vicinity of Grand Valley. Warren borough is now taking the cinders from the Pennsylvania roundhouse.

It takes four days to complete one propeller. One reason for this is that in the hub alone there are 160 parts.

It's A Roast for the Army And a Roasting for Hitler

IS saving waste fat really important? Ask Army cooks, if you want to know—for saving waste fats to make explosives is a ritual in every Army kitchen. Sharp-eyed mess sergeants see that not a single drop escapes. Every bit of fat trimmed off the meat before cooking is rendered, and all grease from frying, roasting or broiling is religiously collected.

All of Uncle Sam's cooks, be they in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps, save waste fats because they know that every pound contains recoverable glycerine—enough of it to manufacture one-half pound of dynamite or to fire four 37mm. anti-aircraft shells. Every time they see a tank or a jeep they have the satisfaction of knowing that the waste fat they save in the kitchen is a source of synthetic resin used in making extra-tough "war paint".

Like their patriotic counterparts in the home, Army and Navy cooks strain their waste fats while pouring them into containers, thus removing food particles. The fat is stored in a refrigerator and collected by the tenderer, beginning a cycle which ends every time munitions and materials are delivered to the Men Behind the Guns.

Housewives of America are being asked to save every tablespoon of waste fats for this important purpose. One spoonful a day means 480 million pounds a year if every woman does her bit

Problem of the WIRE CAGE

BY JOHN DICKSON CARR

Chapter 20

HADLEY hitched up his shoulders. "I suppose it's partly my own damned fault. I warned the old man—Dr. Young—about Chandler. If he hadn't been so na-na about the whole thing, I was going to suggest police protection. But, oh, no. I lost my temper and walked out. When I learned that Chandler had been seen in this neighborhood this afternoon, I was back here in a hurry. Only to find this."

He pointed.

"Now, Fell, I'm practically certain Chandler was here at this tennis-court too. Mrs. Bancroft tells me that somebody got into the shed and left a newspaper conspicuously headlining Madge Sturgess's case. If anybody would think of a trick like that, you can bet it would be Chandler. The newspaper isn't there now, by the way. If anybody would think of a trick like killing Dorrance in someone else's shoes, it would be Chandler. When I first heard about the murder, I plumped for him immediately. I still think he's the likeliest person. Only he could no more have made those tracks in number four shoes than young Rowland. Chandler is a tallish, lanky fellow with feet like canal-barges. It's impossible."

"Then again, as a possibility, there's Madge Sturgess herself. I don't consider her very seriously. I don't think it's very likely that any woman would attempt suicide one night and murder the next. But she must have felt pretty sick when her suicide didn't come off, and the 'farewell' note she left shows enough bitterness against Dorrance to sound capable of anything."

Again Hadley paused. Leaning forward with some intensity, he tapped the finger of his right hand into the palm of his left.

"Are you beginning to see," he asked, "why this case is a simple issue and a nightmare at the same time?"

"Yes," said Dr. Fell.

The police-surgeon had come off the tennis-court. He was carrying the scarf with which Frank Dorrance had been strangled.

"Well, Doctor?" inquired Hadley.

"I suppose," said the police-surgeon, "I've got to do a post-mortem as a matter of fact. But I can tell you now what killed him. This did." He shook the scarf. "I'm taking him away now, if you'll give me a receipt for him. I thought you might want this scarf, though. There are some fingernail-tears in the end of it."

Hadley grunted. "I'd noticed that. Yes, you can take him. I've got the stuff out of his pockets."

THEY waited in silence while the body was carried past them. The police-surgeon hesitated.

"I can tell you something else," he offered. "Somebody's been monkeying with your evidence." Both Hadley and Dr. Fell turned round sharply.

"Somebody," the police-surgeon continued, "tried to untie that scarf and pull it loose after the boy was dead."

"The murderer, you mean?"

"Couldn't tell you that. Might have been. Strangers don't, though, as a rule. Usually, when they find out what they've done, they lose their heads and bolt."

Hadley stared. "They lose their heads and bolt," he said, looking at the scarf. "I don't think this murderer lost his head, though. Now look here, Fell, I've told you what the difficulties are. I've told you what. 'Hoy! Fell! Wake up!'"

Dr. Fell did not seem to have been listening. First he had peered from one end of the tennis-court to the other; then up over its high wire and down to the narrow strip of grass inside. Hadley's mention of the acrobat seemed to fascinate him.

"I'm awake," he answered. "I was thinking—well, to tell you the truth, I was thinking about somebody's presence of mind."

"Oh? Whose?"

"Brenda White's," said Hadley very quietly.

Dr. Fell chewed at the cigar. "Let us for the moment reconstruct the finding of the body by Miss White. Let us suppose that she is telling the truth. At twenty minutes past seven, then, she starts down here to . . . He stopped. "By the way, I don't think I heard that. Why did she come down here?"

"To get a picnic-basket."

"What did she want with a picnic-basket?"

"Maria sent her for it," explained the Superintendent. "It sounds like a useless errand, but then you don't know Maria. Which reminds me—I can't quite make out Maria's position in this household. She gets excited and calls the boss by his first name; but she does all their washing and ironing. She gives orders even to the White girl, but takes 'em from the other servants. What's she doing in the business anyhow?"

Dr. Fell did not seem to hear. "A picnic-basket," he ruminated. He glanced in through the window of the shed. His gaze wandered incuriously over two benches, a row of lockers, and a dilapidated object like a large suitcase. "I don't see any basket there. Did she get it?"

"No. She saw Dorrance's body, and—"

"And didn't run out on the court to see what was wrong," said Dr. Fell.

They looked at each other squarely.

"HADLEY," the doctor continued, with thunderous earnestness, "I say nothing against the young lady. You have obviously been impressed by her beaux yeux. She may be a combination of Florence Nightingale and Dame Alice Lisle. But aren't you a bit staggered by her inhuman presence of mind?"

"Yes, but—"

"One moment. Put yourself in her place. She comes down here after a picnic-basket and finds the body of the man she was to marry. The natural impulse—in anybody—would have been to rush out and see what was wrong. Hey?"

"I know; but—"

"Now what restrains her, even from going just a little bit closer than the door to the court? Shock? Fear? Repulsion? We could understand that. But she says not. She says she noted the tracks in the court. She observed something queer about them. She noted that they were the same size as her own shoes. She compared them with her own, and realized it was all a frame-up against her, she stopped on dry land."

Again Dr. Fell screwed up his eyes behind the glasses on the broad black ribbon.

"It is not impossible. It is only incredible."

Hadley nodded with a certain grimace.

"Superintendent!" called a sharp voice from the tennis-court.

ONE of the men who were taking casts of the footprints, a plain-clothes sergeant, got up hastily from his knees.

"I've got something here that may interest you, sir," he went on. "It's a piece of fingernail, sir. He said, 'Broken or torn off. Looks like a woman's; at least, it's got that pink varnish stuff on it. It caught the light off these flood lamps.'"

"Where did you find this? Near the body?"

"No sir. Between two of the sets of tracks. We've called the sets of tracks A for the dead man's, B for the woman's, and C for the other man's."

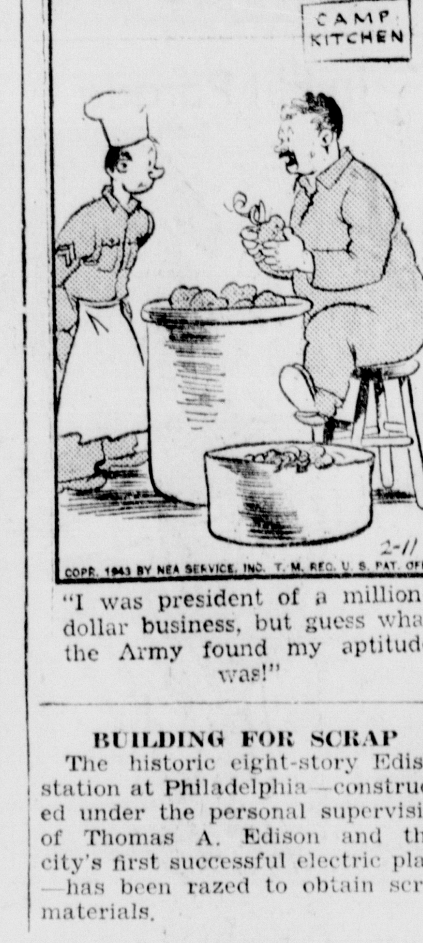

Hadley examined it. He looked at Dr. Fell, who muttered to himself and did not look back.

"Put this in a cellophane envelope," said Hadley curtly. "Mark it. Also mark its position on that plan you're drawing." He glowered at Dr. Fell. "I don't know whether the White girl had a part of a fingernail torn off. I didn't notice. But we'll soon have an opportunity to see. And, by the Lord Harry, if that young lady has been telling me a pack of lies—"

He took his notebook out of his breast pocket and put it on the porch of the pavilion. He placed the blue-and-white scarf beside it. Taking out a pencil and a pen-knife, he opened the blade of the knife. "A piece of fingernail torn off? Fingernail scratches in that scarf? Do? I'm going to have that young couple in here straight away, that's what I'm going to do. And if they don't tell me an absolutely straight story, I'll right, Inspector. Send 'em along."

He began to sharpen the pencil.

Jamestown Brings Intact Outfit For Game Saturday Night

Locals Are Recovering From Injuries and Are Expected to be at Best

Jamestown's Red and Green invading the Warren home ground for their classic battle here Saturday night, are expected to be intact for their tilt and the locals will, in all probability, be on the same scale.

The Hilltoppers sport a tall team, one who ranges close to the 6-5 mark, and they'll give plenty of fight to those Dragons with this Fulton Johnson at center, Clare Johnson and Bob Brownell at guards and Olson and Breckinridge (or Anthony) finishing off at guards.

Fulton Johnson, the towering center of the first paragraph, had a good time with the Dragons up there in the first meeting until Jim Urbanski and Dean Nelson performed a neat play to take the ball away from him after he had grabbed it off the board.

Anthony will be remembered as a main cog in the Red and Green grid machine that flattened the Dragons in 1942, and a good basketball player to boot. He scored 5 points against the locals on the first meeting.

Breckinridge will be the one to watch on the hilltop squad and he's been going heavy on every team this year. A good shot and dangerous floor man he made 10 points against the Dragons up there.

The remainder of the team rounds the Red and Green as one of the most formidable of the year and along with the rivalry that has paced the two outfits through a score of years, it will be a top attraction.

At last reports, both injured men from the Warren squad are set for Jamestown after the leg-pulls they received at Bradford. Dean Nelson still feels it a little while Hubbs shook his off in the early week and they will be in there to keep up the Dragon cause. Hubbs played a beautiful third quarter at Bradford and showed sparks of becoming a head man for the locals; he'll probably start at center. Dick Finley after his wonderful floor work last week is a cinch for a guard slot and Peterson, who played a good game, will be his running mate.

With "Sport" Stanton and the reputable Nelson at forward posts. Hoffman, of St. Mary's, who handled the Warren-Bradford tilt, is booked as referee and the main go starts at 8:30.

A fast preliminary between the Blomquist Furniture and the Warren High Seconds is under way for the 7:15 and this "grudge" match will turn out as interesting a preliminary seen this year due to the Blomquist five beating the seconds twice in the early season.

DELTING POLE LED FLORIDA STATE LEAGUE IN DITCHING IN 1940. BUT NOW AS OUTFIELDER, HE HAS STUCK TO HIS ORIGINAL TRADE.

Covering The Sports Front

—WITH—"BOB" JOHNSON

If the gas situation stays the same, and just about everybody and his brother think it will, one of the subjects that will bear a lot of consideration this summer will be a city league for baseball.

Again such a thing sounds like a stunt and highly improbable, because of the amount of talent already serving in the armed forces. But regardless, there are still enough of the players left around to form a four-team league that would offer quite a bit of show to the fans who can walk a few blocks, plus give recreation to any number of players.

Still harping on baseball in the majors, nothing absolutely definite has been done, and if they should fold for those millions of reasons, there aren't many reasons why city league teams can't be formed. . . . There are such players as Freddie Gagliardi, Nick Creola, Joe Gardner and even Pike Peterson and the old boy. . . . What—you can't see it? . . . Well, if Joe Cronin, Jimmy Dykes, Jimmy Foxx and the rest of those fellows can still move their legs, there's no conceivable reason why they can't be done here. . . . At any rate, they couldn't draw smaller crowds than last year's City League, when they had all of those players here.

Harry Grayson, one of the finest backbones of America's sports programs, wrote in behalf of the baseball dinner the other night, which included such celebrities as Elmer Davis, Eddie Rickenbacker, Quentin Reynolds, Kenesaw M. Landis and the rest, and what he says about some of the speeches really tops the turkey they had, so here 'tis:

There was much talk at the baseball writers' dinner, and naturally none of it was contrary to professional baseball. Landis liked it. Reynolds liked it. Wendell Willkie liked it. Elmer Davis liked it. Everybody in the joint liked it. But what good does that do?

You wouldn't expect a speech for prohibition at a brewers' picnic. It was like asking a resident of California to speak about the weather. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker was the only speaker who did not touch on baseball.

He, more than any one who attended the baseball writers' dinner, knows what the men at the front want and need, but his talk was a very sober one, dealing with a very sober subject. Somehow or other, the spels of the others sounded a little hollow in his presence, perhaps just a little unworthy.

Keeping You Posted—The Rock Cleaners and the Blomquists clash tomorrow night instead of Saturday to allow players on each team to attend the Jamestown-Dragon game on the next night. . . . The O'Connors and the Struthers-Weiss team play as scheduled at 8:00 o'clock Saturday night.

PREAKNESS RACING WILL BE CONTINUED

Baltimore, Feb. 11.—(P)—There will be horse racing in Maryland this spring and it will include the 53rd running of the famous Preakness Stakes. . . . The sport in general will be only a shadow of its former self.

Governor Herbert R. O'Connor was expected to put formal approval today on the racing commission plan to reduce Maryland spring racing to 15 days, with horses running only on the Pimlico course within Baltimore's city limits.

Several days of uncertainty about the fate of racing at Maryland's major tracks were resolved yesterday when the racing commission signed 15 days of racing, all at Pimlico, under management of the Maryland Jockey Club, operator of the layout. . . . Bowie and Havre de Grace, two other major tracks, which regularly run spring programs, were given no racing days.

Still up in the air, however, was the future of five half-mile tracks in Maryland—Bel Air, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Timonium and Upper Marlboro. Only two, Cumberland and Timonium, have asked the commission for racing dates. Only one, Hagerstown, is within easy reach of fans.

REMEMBER ANTHONY? Johnny Anthony, former Jamestown halfback who did a lot of ball totting for their 33 to 0 victory over Warren last season, will be seen at a guard position Saturday night when the hilltoppers invade Warren.

NELSON'S LEG REITER Dean Nelson, injured in the Bradford game last Friday, has improved and will probably start in the Jamestown-Warren game Saturday night.

The Army Quartermaster Corps has developed a goggle with five interchangeable lenses.

A combat plane is built virtually around its engine.

BOWLING FORM

The Hook

Here is the position of the hand when releasing the ball. If the bowler wants to throw a hook—a working ball—the thumb comes out first and the fingers apply the twist with a counter-clockwise motion. The hope of the bowler is to deliver the ball into the 1-3 pocket, that is, against the headpin.

SHEFFIELD, DRAGONS IN CAGE MEET

Tomorrow night finds the local Dragons traveling out of town for a game with the Sheffield Wolverines and Saturday they return to home-ground warfare against the strong Jamestown Red and Green.

Just about the strongest team ever placed on a Sheffield court will treat the newly formed Dragons to a race on the home court of the Sheffield quint that should be nothing less than terrific. Sheffield met Warren here a short time ago and the Dragons disposed of them easily, but that Sheffield court will be a hard proposition to cope with.

Sheffield has a star this year who probably is the best ever seen on a Wolverine court in Nick Otto, bulwark of the whole outfit, and if he ever gets started on his home court tomorrow night it will be a hot session Warren's going into. The rest of the team will have S. Henry at the other forward position, with Nick's brother as running mate. B. Burlingame at a guard slot with N. VanMatter along with him and Nick Otto at center.

The Wolverines operate from the zone defense and Warren had little trouble with it in their first meeting, but tomorrow may be a different story with the locals loss of Jim Urbanski, Bud Matthews and Al Buerkle, and Sheffield is waiting to get Warren on that off-night when they can take their scalps.

BOBO LICENSE IS REVOKED

Pittsburgh, Feb. 11.—(P)—Leon Rains of Philadelphia, chairman of the Pennsylvania boxing commission, revoked the license of Eddie Kapphan, manager of Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh negro heavyweight, after the fighter failed to appear yesterday for an eye examination the commission had ordered.

Kapphan's license was suspended "for the good of the game," Rains said.

Bobo did not appear for the examination because he had arranged to be married yesterday. Kapphan said. The boxer, suspended last August after an eye had been injured in a fight in Philadelphia, expects to go into the army Saturday.

His manager told Rains "friends, lawyers and others" had advised Bobo not to take the examination because he had passed examinations in Columbus, Ohio, and in Maryland, where he fought recently and won a "world's heavyweight title for the duration."

Rains said the order for Bobo to appear for examination came after the Pennsylvania commission received a letter from a doctor who had treated the fighter, urging the commission to prohibit Bobo from continuing in the sport to save him from a lasting injury.

Washington, Pa., Feb. 11.—(P)—Seven points were the most that separated the Geneva and Washington & Jefferson passers until the final period last night, when the Presidents put on a rally that netted 16 points for a 53 to 40 victory. It was the ninth Wash-Jeff triumph in 12 starts.

Huck Hartman led the winners, scoring 18 points. Visciarelli, Geneva guard, got 14.

National League Clubs Are Going To Take Over Phillies' Playing Problems For 1943

BY SID FEDER New York, Feb. 11.—(P)—If and when the Phillies get a new owner—and with all the fancy funbling just now it looks more like "if" than "when"—virtually all National League clubs have promised to pitch in and help the loop's bottom outfit with playing material for 1943.

It was learned today that, in making the promise at the Tuesday meeting at which the league bought the Phils for re-sale, all but one of the club-owners agreed to lend a hand, even if the league is "stuck" with the Phils all season, in which case Bill Terry will be named to run the outfit.

Which isn't any funnier than the situation that finds the Phils still sitting in the league's lap today, with the sale to a private enterprise apparently no nearer completion than when the loop closed almost the whole outfit from Gerry Nugent and other stockholders 48 hours ago.

Although there were enough bids coming in to fill a bridge tournament, the six-man New York-Philadelphia syndicate originally mentioned still was out in front. But one of the six, Captain G. Herbert Walker, Jr., Philadelphia-New York broker, now stationed at the Dayton (Ohio)

Chapter 21

THAT time of waiting just outside the gate had not improved Hugh's nerves. But he believed Hadley had done it deliberately, and steeled himself.

Entering finally under the vast and bluish glare of the floodlights, Hugh told himself again that he was not nervous, but his legs felt shaky.

Hadley greeted them with a friendly smile. "Good evening, Mr. Rowland. I haven't had the pleasure of meeting you since—let's see, when was it? It must have been at the Jewell trial, wasn't it?" He introduced them to Dr. Fell.

Hugh's abnormally alert senses registered something.

Both Hadley and Dr. Fell had glanced, with brief casualness, at Brenda's right hand.

Well, that was all right, Hugh told himself. He had that infernal bit of fingernail tucked away safely. But did they suspect anything?

"First of all," continued Hadley, holding the point of the pencil up against the light and studying it, "I may tell you that I've taken a statement from Mrs. Bancroft. So what I want from you is mostly—corroboration, shall we say?" He smiled agreeably, looking down from the pencil.

"Whatever you want to call it," said Brenda.

"Good! Now, I understand that earlier this afternoon"—again Hadley inspected the pencil—"Mr. Rowland asked you if Mr. Dorrance, your engagement to Mr. Dorrance, was drawn up at the February 24 meeting."

No arrangements were made for play-off games, where teams finish in a deadlock. It was explained that sufficient time was allowed for such contests.

Group Bids On Phillies

Philadelphia, Feb. 10.—(P)—John E. (Jack) Kelly, Philadelphia sportsman and contractor, said today he and a "group of others" have submitted a bid for the purchase of the Phils.

Kelly, who headed a syndicate that attempted to purchase the club a year ago, identified William H. Harman, a Philadelphia industrialist, as one of the group associated with him. He did not mention any other names.

Kelly said the bid was placed with the National League which yesterday purchased the controlling interest in the Phils from President Gerry Nugent.

Kelly declined to mention any figures, but asserted "our bid is based on the assumption that we would lose money for the first couple of years." He added:

"It isn't important who gets the club. We want to see a winning club as a matter of civic pride. If we're not the lucky bidder, we wish luck and success to whoever gets it."

Nugent said he was "perfectly satisfied" with the deal whereby he sold out to the league.

army air field, said the deal was out of the question "just now." From all reports, the rhubarb was over the demand of the "brave half dozen" for complete ownership of the 5,000 shares of Phils stock outstanding.

Most of the outstanding 315 shares are owned by William H. Harman, PPHiladelphia industrialist, and he and a group that includes John B. Kelly, the Philadelphia contractor and "muscle man," are bidding against the six-man syndicate.

Along with Captain Walker are Naval Lieutenant W. Potter Wear, son of the late Joseph Wear, chairman of the Davis Cup tennis committee; Cummins Catherwood, longtime Philadelphia newspaper publisher, and Bill Cox, a lumberman.

Problem of the

that But Hadley was not to be drawn.

"You couldn't have liked him very much, Miss White? You wouldn't have married him even for your share of fifty thousand pounds?"

"No, I wouldn't. Besides, shouldn't have got it anyway."

(Look out, Hugh's inner voice cried out to her. Watch your step. Watch your—)

"What do you mean by that, Miss White?"

"The money was all in Frank's name."

"But I understand it was a joint inheritance?"

"No," said Brenda earnestly. "Get the lawyers to show you the will. That was how Uncle Jerry tied it up so there couldn't be divorce or separation. I mean, I would be no good if we married one week, got the money, and divorced the next week. The fifty thousand is capital. It's invested at between six and eight per cent interest, and brings in close of four thousand a year. Frank wanted to have the interest on it so long as we didn't divorce or separate. Of course, it was theoretically a joint inheritance, because I was to have an adequate allowance. But it wasn't really; Frank was full of a scheme for putting it all into managing night-clubs, and neither of us could touch the capital unless the other—"

"She stopped."

"I SEE," observed Hadley, examining the point of the pencil. "Unless the other died. So now you've got it all without strings attached."

"I didn't mean that," said Brenda. "Please, what's the good of suggesting it?"

"I wasn't suggesting anything, Miss White. I was only repeating what you said. Did you know of this proviso, Mr. Rowland?"

"I see. Let's leave that for the time being, and go on to the time when all of you came down here to play tennis. Mr. Rowland, you were overheard to say, 'If we're not careful, there'll be murder done before the day's over.' And Miss White agreed with you."

"What did you mean by that?" Hugh laughed. "Nothing at all. Superintendent. If your informant heard the rest of it, you'll know we agreed it was only nerves due to the heat before the storm broke."

"You began to play tennis," pursued Hadley. "I want to be quite clear about this part. You and Mrs. Bancroft were playing Miss White and Mr. Dorrance?"

"And during this time, I'm told, you threatened Mr. Dorrance again?"

"Not exactly. I threatened to hit him."

"But you also used the words, 'I would like to murder you?'"

"I see," said Hadley, whose eyes never wavered. "Did anything else happen during that game?"

Hugh, coming to a decision, rode straight into the hurricane. "Nothing that I remember. Nothing important, anyhow." He paused. "Except that during this time, I'm told, when Brenda was serving, she broke the top of the nail off her middle finger. That was another reason why she wasn't keen on continuing the game."

Silence.

It was a silence so absolute, in fact, that he could hear moths fluttering round the lantern in the pavilion. Every person in that enclosure was looking at him. Again he had to drag his eyes away from the picnic hamper.

Eighth Army Storms Into So. Tunisia

BY DANIEL DE LUCE Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Feb. 11.—(P)—Some French troops have been withdrawn from action on the Tunisian front for reequipment and training with American arms, it was officially announced today.

United States forces have been taking over large sections of the French lines in central and southern Tunisia while the British First Army in the north also extended its positions in order to relieve the tired and poorly-armed French.

German army blows had compelled the French, despite stubborn resistance, to draw back from the heights dominating the coastal corridor along which Marshal Rommel could retreat to Tunis.

American combat teams were thrown hastily into the breaches and succeeded in stabilizing the situation.

Nine Planes Lost In Fire At Meadville

Meadville, Feb. 11.—(P)—Nine training planes were destroyed today by fire which razed the hangar at Port Meadville airport, about three miles from here.

Robert Lewis, 17, of Meadville, a hangar attendant, was seriously burned as he attempted to carry a can of gasoline from the hangar. He was rushed to Meadville hospital.

The fire broke out in the hangar about 10:15 o'clock, and in 10 or 15 minutes the structure was a mass of flames.

Elwood Holt, manager of the airport, said the blaze started when gasoline supplies were ignited by a coal stove. He estimated the damage at $100,000.

Of 16 training ships at the airport, seven were saved, Holt said. The airport, owned by the city of Meadville, had been leased to the Graham Aviation Corporation and was being used for the training of naval aviation cadets from Allegheny College.

Invasion In Next Nine Months Hinted By Prime Minister

"For good or ill," he said, "we know exactly what it is we wish to do."

"We have the united, agreed advice of our experts behind it, and there is nothing now to be done but to work out these schemes in detail and put them into operation."

Churchill said that at the Casablanca conference he renewed Britain's promise "to continue the war against Japan to the point of unconditional surrender should the war in Europe finish before."

He said he had even offered to embody this in a "special treaty" but "the president stated, however, that the word of Britain was quite enough for him."

London, Feb. 11.—(P)—Although it was fairly common knowledge that Prime Minister Churchill would make his war review today, no planes of German Air Marshal Hermann Goering appeared to interrupt the Royal Air Force's speech in Berlin Jan. 30.

British Mosquito bombers raided Berlin when Goering spoke on the tenth anniversary of Hitler's rise to power. The raid forced Goering to delay his speech an hour.

Churchill spoke to the house of commons for one hour and five minutes.

He is expected to give a condensed version of the speech in a radio broadcast to the nation Sunday.

Referring to his conference at Adana with President Ismet Inonu of Turkey, Churchill said "it is no part of our policy to get Turkey into trouble." That, he said, "would be a disaster to Britain and to all the United Nations."

Churchill said, "I made no request to Turkey except to get her rearmament well organized."

Referring to his visit in Tripoli, the prime minister recalled the diatribes which he gave Gen. Sir Harold Alexander last August.

He said that in landing in French North Africa the Americans and British lost less shipping than actually fell into their hands.

He disclosed that nearly a half million men had been successfully landed.

Seizure of Vital Towns Is Announced

Pravda said that the Germans attempted to hold the Volchansk sector with a force of 80 tanks and two regiments of infantry, but large Soviet tanks led the attack that split the defenders, who were routed by infantry and automatic rifles.

Below Belgorod the Russians were reported advancing down the big Kharkov highway.

(A dispatch in its Stockholm Daily Express from its Stockholm correspondent reported today that the Germans were evacuating Kharkov as Russian artillery shelled the city heavily, and it was indicated that the swiftly-moving Red army troops had slashed to within six to 10 miles of the city.)

In the Caucasus, the Russians have announced the recapture of Akhtari, 110 miles southwest of Rostov and 80 miles northwest of Kresnodar, with which it was connected by a railroad that the Germans might have used in an attempt to escape by way of the Taman peninsula.

"The coast of the Sea of Azov from the mouth of the river Don to Akhtari has been completely cleared of the enemy," the early communique said today.

Election Held By Employees of United Co.

(From Page One) Ballots were counted immediately after the close of the polls, and the results were announced by 6 o'clock.

Both company and union officials expressed their appreciation for the orderly and impartial method with which the election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

London, Feb. 11.—(P)—Germany's first reaction to Prime Minister Churchill's war report to the house of commons today came in a radio broadcast which quoted a semi-official source as saying Churchill's main purpose was to soothe public opinion about the U-boat war and "the did this in his own way—by lying."

Reuters recorded the broadcast.

Bombay, Feb. 11.—(P)—Devadas Gandhi, son of the fasting Mohandas K. Gandhi, left a full column blank on the editorial page of his newspaper, the Hindustan Times, in apparent protest today both against the detention of his father and pre-censorship of the paper.

Mrs. Bruce Boardman has been worse for a few days. Dr. Bradshaw of Panama was called for her and also for Mrs. Rob Coon, who also has been sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper's daughter, Mabel, has been quite sick with appendicitis. She seems to be a little better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newhouse and little son were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McGraw of Warren on Sunday.

Charles Stuart is back at work again. He has been ill with a cold.

Miss Ruth Wilson has gone to work at the Raymond Manufacturing plant in Corry.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cochran and family visited Mr. Cochran's father at Panama, who is ill.

Miss Marion Wynn of Lottsville visited relatives and friends in town over the weekend.

Major de Seversky predicts that after the war air fliers will be developed which will be as much in use as the automobile fliers of today.

Now Is Proper Time To Burn Brush Says Chief Fire Warden

The months of February and the first half of March are the proper times to burn brush as the months of April and May should be complete blackouts as far as outdoor fires are concerned, says George H. Wirt, chief fire warden of the Department of Forests and Waters.

Mr. Wirt states that the public cooperated splendidly last fall when requested to observe blackouts during October and November, and asks for the same cooperation this spring. The protection of our forests from fire is one of the most important duties a citizen can perform in time of war. Wood is essential in winning the war.

Each individual should see that his neighbor does not start an outdoor fire during April and May and just as it is patriotic to serve your state and nation as an air warden or in any other civilian defense capacity, it is equally patriotic to serve and help protect the trees of the forests.

Care with fire or near the woods means more than care with tobacco and matches, it means the elimination of the careless handling of campfires, brush burning and every fire in the open. It means care in preventing escaping sparks from engine stacks and ash pans. It means care on the part of the farmer, camper, fisherman hunter, lumberman, railroad worker and hiker. The control of forest fires means the prevention of forest fires.

The prevention of forest fires is an individual responsibility laid upon each citizen by society and the sooner the individual becomes fire conscious and assumes his personal share of the burden, the sooner will the problem be solved and the sooner will the hills and mountains of Pennsylvania produce valuable timber crops.

TIMES TOPICS

MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting of the trustees of St. Joseph's Cemetery Association has been postponed until Sunday, February 21.

FROM INDIANTOWN GAP

At 7:30 this evening in the Church of the Nazarene, Rev. Gilbert Howe, engaged in religious work at Indiantown Gap, will be presented as special speaker. All are invited to be present and hear of his experiences with the men in the armed services.

SUPREME OFFICER HERE

Frank J. LaBell, of Boston, supreme governor of the Loyal Order of Moose, spent the night in Warren after conferring with officers of Warren lodge last evening. He was accompanied by Frank Pierotti, of Kane, deputy for the western part of Pennsylvania.

SEEKING ACCOMPLICE

Michael Cusimano, boy bandit, arrested in Warren after robbery of the Finley Sporting Goods store and armed robbery of the Grotzinger Restaurant, had an accomplice in some of his holdups in Jamestown and Detective R. K. Moynihan, who came to Warren after the prisoner, has obtained a statement from Cusimano. In the statement the youth named the accomplice he had in the holdup of the Fisher liquor store in December. There is a chance that the fellow, who is now in the army, may be brought back to face charges in Jamestown.

Alert Order Blacks Street Lights First

Harrisburg, Feb. 11.—(AP)—In future blackouts, city street service lights must be extinguished on the first audible signal under a third service command ruling announced by the state defense council.

Under the new warning system, effective next Wednesday, the first, or blue, signal calls for a partial blackout, indicating that an enemy raid or test is probable. The second, or red, signal means that a raid or rehearsal is imminent and is the start of a complete blackout.

A. Boyd Hamilton, acting defense director, said it was first believed street lights would burn until the second signal was given, but that the army had ruled otherwise.

Hamilton also announced the all clear signal will be announced by radio and other means, so that methods used for blue or red signals will not be repeated.

Third service command plans tentatively call for all clear announcements over Philadelphia and Pittsburgh radio stations, but the state council has recommended use of other Pennsylvania stations as well.

The council's salvage committee announced that Pennsylvania has been awarded a plaque for its contribution to the war by the War Production Board.

Paul C. Cabot, WPB salvage director, will present the plaque to Governor Martin on February 25 at 2 p. m.

Pennsylvania won the award by its collection of 780,453 tons of iron and steel scrap in the salvage committee's campaign conducted last September and October, in which newspapers, school children and agricultural organizations assisted.

Buses Will Serve You Better

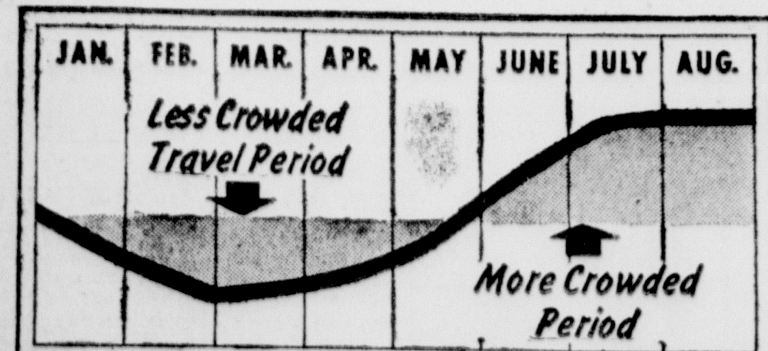

if you plan your travel for

MID-WINTER MONTHS and MID-WEEK DAYS

You can aid wartime bus service by making necessary trips in February or March—instead of Mid-Summer

Through the years bus travel has always been very heavy in some months, less heavy in others—and this has held true even in wartime. That's why Greyhound has long urged everyone to travel during less crowded periods—and February and March are just such times. Necessary trips taken, when possible, in mid-winter will greatly relieve overcrowding in the mid-summer months ahead.

You can aid wartime transportation still further by choosing the right day—in mid-week—and the right schedule—the least crowded one. It's wise to take along as little baggage as possible—and get information on any trip well in advance.
